Emerge from the Crowd: How to Become a Standout Residency Candidate

Audience: This program is intended for first-, second-, and third-year pharmacy students planning to pursue postgraduate residency training.

Saturday, April 28, 2012

1:00 p.m.–5:00 p.m.

Step 1: Make the Grade

Academic achievement is important for every pharmacy residency candidate. Learn how to use your classroom and experiential courses to achieve the grades that will help you make the cut and prepare you for a lifetime of learning and professional development.

Step 2: Get Involved and Expand Your Network

Developing and maintaining a professional network now can benefit you not only as a residency candidate but also throughout your career. Explore the many opportunities to get involved in activities that will provide you with meaningful experience through service to the profession and the community.

Step 3: Gain Valuable Work and Professional Experience

Looking to distinguish yourself beyond grades? Learn how to plan your internships and identify additional shadowing and experiential opportunities that will benefit your professional development. Take advantage of our unique interviewing skills workshop.

Saturday, April 28, 2012

5:00 p.m.–7:00 p.m.

Resident Roundtables

Sit down with current residents and residency program directors face-to-face to hear their perspectives and advice. Roundtable topics include "A Day in the Life of a PGY1 Resident," "Navigating the ASHP Midyear Clinical Meeting," and "Researching and Interviewing for Residencies." Refreshments and light hors d'oeuvres will be served.

Sunday, April 29, 2012

Networking Breakfasts and Lunch

Please join ACCP members and residents beginning at 7:30 a.m. for a complimentary continental breakfast. Representatives of ACCP Practice and Research Networks (PRNs) will have designated tables where attendees can meet PRN leaders and learn how to get involved. Your registration fee also includes a box lunch, which will be served between the morning and afternoon sessions.

Sunday, April 29, 2012

8:30 a.m.–3:00 p.m.

Step 4: Engage in Scholarly Activity: Research, Publications, and Presentations

ASHP-accredited residency programs require residents to complete a research project. Residency candidates who have previously participated in research and other scholarly activities during their student career will have an advantage over other applicants. Discover how to get involved in scholarly activity and what research skills residency program directors are seeking in the successful residency candidate.

Step 5: Develop Leadership and Management Abilities

When selecting a resident, pharmacy preceptors and program directors look for candidates who possess an aptitude for leadership and management. Receive guidance on time and project management, leadership skill development, goal setting, and mapping a course for your future career in clinical pharmacy.

Step 6: Document It All

A well-written CV creates a positive image and distinguishes you from the rest of the crowd. Participate in a CV writing and portfolio development session that will prepare you to market your skills and experience effectively. Learn how to document those unique experiences that can distinguish you from other residency applicants.
